Resolution of the Executive Committee about the Rohingya Refugees in Bangladesh

The WPC demands the immediate repatriation of Rohingya Refugees to their home country. The EC of the World Peace Council (WPC) expresses its serious concern over the ongoing Rohingya Refugees Crisis in Bangladesh. The crisis began when the military junta in Myanmar started persecution over Rohingya communities. Consequently, over 1.2 million Rohingya people fled to Bangladesh and many other fled other neighboring countries. Along with Human Rights crisis, this refugee crisis has created a big security threat to the whole region and destabilizing the region.

The WPC regrets the absence of serious efforts by the International community to deal with this matter due to geostrategic and economic interests. The WPC demands peaceful repatriation of Rohingya refugees with full protection on right to life and citizenship rights.

As a result of this crisis millions of Rohingya people live in refugee camps suffering from hunger, malnutrition and serious poverty. Taking advantage of this poverty the terrorist and extremist forces along with illegal drug traffickers are using young the Rohingya people.
